Answer Key

Question	Answer
1	c	Concept: Origin Of Ethics Rationale: Moral virtues (attitudes that govern decisions) are different than intellectual virtues (which are qualities we develop by practicing moral virtues). Courage, in this case, is a moral virtue, while the other choices are intellectual virtues.
2	b	Concept: Modern Ethical Theories Rationale: Absolutes present a problem because not everyone is affected by the same principles and duties.
3	c	Concept: Applied Ethics Rationale: The profit motive is something neither philosopher disagreed with, as long as it benefits humanity in some way.
4	b	Concept: Business Ethics and Culture Rationale: Business is not culturally neutral, but tends to be westernized, which impacts the relationship between business and culture.
5	b	Concept: The Influence of Culture and Religion Rationale: A high power distance means an employee would likely not question decisions nor give input.
6	d	Concept: Business Ethics Over Time Rationale: Fast fashion is the term used for cheap, trendy clothing similar to what is seen on the runway. The issue with fast fashion is the idea that it contributes to a "throwaway" society.
7	d	Concept: Business Ethics and Government Influence Rationale: Corporate personhood relates to the idea that corporations can express beliefs, just like an individual person might.
8	b	Concept: Is There a Universal Ethic? Rationale: This model states that people don't need to be prepared to do certain tasks, but they do need to be prepared on how to be a certain type of person for career success.
9	b	Concept: Ethics and Social Justice Rationale: In Rawls's theory, the state and his concept of fairness should seek to maximize welfare of the most disadvantaged.
10	c	Concept: Why Ethics Matter Rationale:

		Deontology is focused on universal laws, and is concerned with intent rather than consequences.
11	b	Concept: Ethics, Goodwill, and Profit Rationale: A short-term focus is one that focuses on quarterly earnings and dividends.
12	c	Concept: Multiple Ethical Standards Rationale: Having a transparent character is the main reason to adopt a universal ethical standard, which you can use in all aspects of your life.
13	d	Concept: Ethical Theory and Ethical Decisions Rationale: In this case, David had unintentional unethical behavior.
14	c	Concept: The Seven-Step Path to Decision Making Rationale: "Ends" refers to the results, outcomes, or consequences of our decision.
15	a	Concept: Ethics and Your Career Rationale: While these other elements may be important, what is important to remember is the fact that as a leader, we need to model the behavior we expect from our employees.
